UNITED STATES SOON MAY CHANGE MEXICAN POLICY

New Expression Expected Immediately After Elections.

NO DISCUSSION OF BRITISH VIEWS

Whatever Is Passing Between This Government and England Is Being Observed With Utmost Secrecy-General Felix Diaz Arrives at Vera Cruz.

Washington, October 22,-State Department officials to-day declined to discuss in any way the inquiries made by Ambassador Page in London in respect to Great Britain's attitude in Mexico.

It was evident that in whatever is passing between Great Britain and the United States on the latest phase of the Mexican situation, the utmost secrecy is to be observed. At the White House. there was positively no information available and Secretary Bryan, who spent the entire day at home work-ing on foreign matters, displayed extreme reticence. Diplomats were of the opinion that there would be further conversations, but they were not likely to occur until after October 26, the date set for the Mexican elections. A new expression of policy is expected from the United States immediately

No developments of importance in the internal situation in Mexico were reported except the arrival at Vera Cruz of General Fellx Diaz, which John Lind promptly cabled to the State Department without comment.

The special order for 11 o'clock this morning was the report of the committee on foreign missions. This report was read by Rev. R. C. Gilmore of Fredericksburg, chairman of the committee and showed that the spirit of missions and liberality in contribution to the same have increased since the meeting of the synod a year ago, and that within the past six years the per capita contribution of the synod to the cause of foreign missions has almost doubled, having grown from $4 cents to $2.95. The contribution of the synod to foreign missions this year was $112.000, a decided increase over the amount given to this cause the year previous. The largest per capita gift to this cause was that of Mitchell's Church, which gave $21.27 per member. Potomac Presbytery led the twelve presbyteries of the synod in per capita contributions, having given an average of $3.41 per member. The synod as a whole gave an average of $2.05. Thirty-four churches in the synod is provided as a whole gave an average of $2.05. Thirty-four churches in the synod is provided as to the wisdom of creating a separate territorial missionary district for negroes.

Those who opposed the plan held it would mean ultimately the establishment of a negroe Episcopal Church entirely apart from the present church; they declared the Southern negroes were not sufficiently developed to assum church responsibilities. Supporters of the plan declared a merger of white and negro congregations in the South impossible, and that it were better to give the negroes a church, of their own than for them to have none at all. The lamentable conditions among many Southern negroes were pointed out. It was asserted the Church had failed to alleviate those conditions and that it should experiment with a negro bishop.
